1 INTRODUCTION

This document provides details of Higher 1 Level Japanese for candidates in Singapore.

This syllabus is available in October/November only.

Note on the use of dictionaries: Centres and candidates should note that dictionaries may be used in preparation for the Speaking test. Dictionaries may not be used in any of the other components nor during the Speaking test.

2 AIMS

The aims of the syllabus are set out below and describe the educational purposes of following a course in Japanese at Higher 1. The aims are to:

- develop the language proficiency required to communicate effectively in Japanese
- explore and engage with the culture and society of countries and communities where Japanese is spoken
- encourage positive attitudes towards speakers of other languages and a sympathetic approach to other cultures
- provide enjoyment and intellectual stimulation
- support the development of transferable skills (e.g. communication and organisational skills, autonomy, resourcefulness and cognitive flexibility) to complement other areas of the curriculum
- continue developing the skills, language and attitudes required for further study, work and leisure.

3 ASSESSMENT OBJECTIVES

The examination will assess candidates' linguistic competence and their knowledge of contemporary society by requiring them to:

AO1 Listening

- L1 understand main points and key information from a range of spoken sources
- L2 identify emotions, opinions and attitudes which are stated or strongly implied in speech
- L3 understand ideas, arguments and conclusions in structured and longer speech
- L4 demonstrate an understanding of a wide range of vocabulary and language structures in speech on general topics.

AO2 Reading

- R1 understand main points and key information from a range of texts
- R2 identify emotions, opinions and attitudes when stated or strongly implied in texts
- R3 understand ideas, arguments and conclusions in structured and discursive texts
- R4 demonstrate an understanding of a wide range of vocabulary and language structures used in texts on general topics.

AO3 Writing

- W1 communicate information, ideas, opinions and arguments clearly and effectively, with support/justification
- W2 organise ideas by paragraphing and by using a range of appropriate linking devices
- W3 use text conventions and register appropriate to the given purpose and audience
- W4 use a wide range of vocabulary and grammar
- W5 use vocabulary and grammar accurately.

AO4 Speaking

- S1 communicate information, ideas, opinions and arguments clearly and effectively, with support/justification
 S2 engage in a conversation and contribute effectively to help move the conversation forward
 S3 use a wide range of vocabulary and grammar
 S4 use vocabulary and grammar accurately
 S5 show control of pronunciation and intonation.

4 TOPIC AREAS

All textual material used in the examination will be drawn from the topic areas below, with reference to the country/ies where Japanese is spoken. Further guidance on the Topic Areas is given in section 7 of this syllabus.

The subject content is organised into six topic areas at Higher 1. These provide contexts for the acquisition of vocabulary and the study of grammar and structures. The topic areas listed below are described in more detail in section 7.

- Culture
- Health and well-being
- Education and future plans
- Community and society
- Our responsibility for the planet
- Science and technology

A course based on this syllabus should provide students with meaningful opportunities to enhance their language skills. Through engagement with a variety of texts and application of a wide range of vocabulary and structures, students will develop the confidence to communicate effectively with other users of Japanese.

6 DESCRIPTION OF COMPONENTS

COMPONENT 1: Listening (approx. 60 minutes including 6 minutes' transfer time) (40 marks)

This paper consists of 40 multiple-choice and matching questions. Candidates answer all questions by selecting the correct option. The questions test comprehension of recorded texts (e.g. dialogues, conversations). Candidates hear each recorded text twice. At the end of the test candidates will be asked to transfer their answers onto the separate answer sheet.

Description of questions

Questions 1–8 (8 marks)

Candidates listen to four short texts and answer eight multiple-choice questions with four options. The text types will be dialogues or monologues, e.g. announcements, news items, messages.

Questions 9–14 (6 marks)

Candidates listen to six short monologues and match the names of the speakers with the correct statements.

Questions 15–20 (6 marks)

Candidates listen to a text and choose the appropriate word to fill in six gaps in a short summary. Each gap has three multiple-choice options. The text types will be dialogues or monologues, e.g. announcement, news, report, review.

Questions 21–30 (10 marks)

Candidates listen to a dialogue and answer ten multiple-choice questions with three options. The text type will be a dialogue, e.g. interview, conversation, discussion.

Questions 31–40 (10 marks)

Candidates listen to a monologue and answer ten multiple-choice questions with three options. The text type will be a monologue, e.g. speech, presentation, lecture.

COMPONENT 2: Reading (1 hour 30 minutes) (40 marks)

This paper consists of 40 multiple-choice and matching questions. Candidates answer all questions by selecting the correct option on a multiple-choice answer sheet. The questions test comprehension of a range of text types (e.g. instructions, articles, blogs, reports).

Description of questions

Questions 1–6 (6 marks)

Candidates read six short texts and answer multiple-choice questions with four options for each text. Examples of text types include instructions, messages, advertisements, brochures.

Questions 7–14 (8 marks)

Candidates read four short thematically linked texts and identify which statement relates to which text. Examples of text types include newspaper/magazine articles, blogs, brochures, reports, stories, correspondence, reviews.

Questions 15–20 (6 marks)

Candidates read a text and choose the correct options to complete six sentences. Examples of text types include newspaper/magazine articles, blogs, brochures, reports, stories, correspondence.

Questions 21–32 (12 marks)

Candidates read a text with 12 gaps and choose the correct option to complete each gap. There are four options for each gap. Examples of text types include newspaper/magazine articles, blogs, brochures, reports, stories, correspondence.

Questions 33–40 (8 marks)

Candidates read a text and answer eight multiple-choice questions with four options. Examples of text types include newspaper/magazine articles, blogs, brochures, reports, stories, correspondence.

COMPONENT 3: Writing (1 hour 30 minutes) (40 marks)

This paper consists of two writing tasks.

Candidates answer Question 1 and either Question 2 or Question 3.

Candidates will be awarded marks in three categories for each response:

- task completion
- linguistic range and organisation
- language accuracy.

All responses should address the task set. Responses that do not address the task may not be awarded marks in the Task completion and/or in the Linguistic range and organisation/Language accuracy categories.

Description of questions

Question 1: Functional Writing (16 marks)

Candidates write an email (200 to 300 characters) on a given situation.

Question 2 or Question 3: Extended Writing (24 marks)

Candidates write an essay (400 to 600 characters) on one of two topics, with an argumentative or discursive focus.

COMPONENT 4: Speaking (approx. 15 minutes) (40 marks)

This component description should be read in conjunction with the mark scheme in section 8 of this syllabus.

The Speaking Test will be recorded for external moderation by Cambridge.

The timings listed for the individual parts of the test must be adhered to, within the tolerances given.

Section 1: Presentation (no more than 2½ minutes) (10 marks)

Candidates will give a presentation of about 2 minutes on a specific topic.

The subject matter of the presentation should be drawn from one of the topic areas listed in section 4. Centres wishing to seek advice on the acceptability of subject matter are welcome to contact the Cambridge Languages group through the Singapore Examinations and Assessment Board (SEAB).

Candidates will show evidence of their ability to present relevant facts, to express opinions and hypotheses and to put forward points for discussion.

Candidates should have thoroughly prepared a topic in which they have a personal interest and that they give a lively and interesting presentation. Candidates may prepare a 'cue card' in Japanese to bring into the examination room. The 'cue card' should be no larger than a postcard, and may contain a maximum of 5 headings in succinct point-form to remind candidates of the points they wish to make. Candidates may also bring in a limited quantity of illustrative material, which may include maps, diagrams, statistics, pictures and short articles. A script of their presentation is not allowed.

Examiners will only interrupt candidates to ask questions where the speech shows no sign of finishing after about 2½ minutes, or to prompt candidates having obvious difficulty in continuing with their speech.

Section 2: Topic conversation (approx. 6 minutes) (12 marks)

The presentation will lead into a conversation about the chosen topic. During the delivery of the presentation, examiners are likely to make notes in order to help them to ask appropriate questions. Candidates must be prepared to supply additional factual material where appropriate and to express and defend a point of view. In order to give the candidate every opportunity to do this, questions will be of the 'tell me more about...', 'why?', 'how?' variety, rather than closed questions which may be answered by 'yes/no'. When choosing a topic, candidates should consider how a conversation about it might develop: if they cannot think of questions they could be asked, it is unlikely to present an appropriate source of discussion. The examiner's objective will be to encourage the candidate to contribute as much as possible to the conversation.

Section 3: General conversation (approx. 6 minutes) (12 marks)

This section will begin with fairly straightforward questions about the candidate's background and interests and will move quickly on to a more mature conversation discussing more abstract and/or current issues within the general topic areas.

The subjects covered in this section will depend on the candidate's interests and the subject of the presentation: it would not be appropriate to continue talking about the environment/green issues when the candidate has already chosen to discuss ecology for the topic. Candidates should be able to discuss some matters of current interest though it is unreasonable to assume that all candidates will be closely informed on all matters of serious contemporary concern: if the candidate seems unresponsive, the examiner will try a change of topic.

For example, examiners might begin the General Conversation section with questions such as 'How do you spend your spare time?', leading rapidly to matters of contemporary interest/current affairs. The type of question is important: closed questions may, of course, be used to gain some information on the candidate's interests, but 'why...?', 'how...?', 'what do you think about...?' will give the candidate scope to expand his/her responses.

Each of the 'starter' questions mentioned above could, depending on the reactions of the candidate, lead away from factual matters towards more abstract areas, for example:

- 'How long have you lived here?' could lead on to 'What do you think of the area?' → 'What would attract people to the area/make them leave it?' → 'What would be your ideal place to live and why?'
- 'What subjects are you studying?' → 'What do you think of the way you've been taught?' → 'How could it be improved?' → discussion of school/education system, comparison with other countries.

To give a possible outline of the way the General Conversation section might develop:

• 'What do you do in your spare time?'
Answer: 'Sport' Supplementary questions – taking part?/ watching?/team/individual? → Why? This could develop along sport/health lines, necessity for sport in schools, success/failure of national teams. → Discussions on fair play, dedication and discipline, behaviour and challenges in sport in contemporary society, all according to the responses of the candidate.	Answer: 'Watch TV' Supplementary questions – what sort of programmes/news? This might develop along the lines of whether the news is unbiased/censorship in general. Films? → what makes a film successful, importance of stars and why; national or international film industries, subsidies for the Arts, etc. Documentaries? → are they merely entertainment, or a genuine educational experience? are they sensationalised? → power of the media, etc.

The General Conversation section might only cover 2/3 topic areas, but might touch on more if the examiner has difficulty finding something the candidate is interested in, or can talk about. Candidates who cannot sustain the conversation at an appropriate level when given every opportunity to do so cannot expect a high mark.

Whole test: Section 1 Presentation, Section 2 Topic Conversation and Section 3 General Conversation (6 marks)

6 marks are available for pronunciation and intonation across all three parts of the test.

Important Note:

Both conversation elements should be lively and spontaneous. Teachers should warn their candidates not to produce chunks of pre-learned material because Cambridge's moderators will have been advised to penalise candidates who do so. Equally, teachers who may also be conducting the final examination should guard against over-rehearsing the tests in advance. Any suspicion of collusion in the conduct of speaking tests (e.g. pre-prepared questions, candidates or teachers using pre-determined scripts) will be dealt with in accordance with Cambridge's Malpractice procedures.

7 FURTHER GUIDANCE ON THE USE OF THE TOPIC LIST

Teachers are free to explore the topic areas in any way they choose. They may find the following examples (which are not prescriptive) a useful guide to planning courses. All these suggestions, and other themes chosen by the teacher from within the topic areas, should be studied with reference to countries/communities where Japanese is spoken.

8 MARK SCHEMES

COMPONENT 3: Writing

Candidates will be awarded marks in three categories for each piece they respond to:

Question 1

- Task completion (maximum of 8 marks): see Table A
- Linguistic range and organisation (maximum of 4 marks): see Table B
- Language accuracy (maximum of 4 marks): see Table C.

Question 2 and Question 3

- Task completion (maximum of 10 marks): see Table D
- Linguistic range and organisation (maximum of 7 marks): see Table E
- Language accuracy (maximum of 7 marks): see Table F.

Glossary of terms used in the Writing levels-based mark schemes

TABLES A and D – Task completion

- Relevant: related or relatable to required content points and/or task requirements.
- Conventions: include such things as genre, format, register and function. For example, a personal letter should not be written as a formal report, should be laid out accordingly and should use the right tone for the communicative purpose.

TABLES B and E – Linguistic range and organisation

- Range: the variety of words and grammatical forms a candidate uses. At higher levels, candidates will make increasing use of a greater variety of words, fixed phrases, collocations and grammatical forms.
- Linking words: are cohesive devices, but are separated here to refer to higher-frequency vocabulary which provides explicit linkage. They can range from basic high frequency items (such as 'and', 'but') to basic and phrasal items (such as 'because', 'first of all', 'finally').
- Cohesive devices: refers to more sophisticated linking words and phrases (e.g. 'moreover', 'it may appear', 'as a result'), as well as grammatical devices such as the use of reference pronouns, substitution (e.g. There are two women in the picture. The one on the right ...), ellipsis (e.g. The first car he owned was a small car, the second a family car.).
- Simple structures: a simple structure is, for example, a sentence that has just one independent clause (i.e. it stands alone and expresses one complete thought) and uses a basic tense.
- Complex structures: a complex structure is, for example, a sentence that has an independent clause (i.e. it stands alone and expresses one complete thought) and a dependent clause (i.e. one that cannot stand alone as a complete sentence because it does not express a complete thought).
- Less common vocabulary: appears less often or may be used to express ideas more succinctly and precisely.

TABLES C and F – Language accuracy

- Errors and slips: Errors are systematic mistakes. Slips are mistakes that are non-systematic, i.e. the candidate has learned the vocabulary item or grammatical structure, but just happened to make a mistake in this instance. In a candidate's response, where most other examples of a lexical/grammatical point are accurate, a mistake on that point would most likely be a slip.
- Impede communication: gets in the way of meaning.
- Simple grammar: words, phrases, basic tenses and simple clauses.
- Complex grammar: longer and more complex items, e.g. noun clauses, relative and adverb clauses, subordination, passive forms, infinitives, verb patterns, modal forms and tense contrasts.

COMPONENT 4: SpeakingSection 1: Presentation

The presentation will be marked out of 10 marks.

S1: Communicate information, ideas, opinions and arguments clearly and effectively, with support/justification.

Level	Communication (S1)	Marks
5	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Communicates detailed information, ideas, opinions and arguments clearly and effectively. Consistently clear development and organisation of content. Effective support/justification of content. 	9–10
4	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Communicates detailed information, ideas, opinions and arguments in a mostly clear and effective way. Generally clear development and organisation of content. Mostly effective support/justification of content. 	7–8
3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Communicates information, ideas, opinions and arguments with some detail and clarity. Some development and organisation of content, which may not always be successful. Some support/justification of content. 	5–6
2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Communicates simple information, ideas, opinions and arguments but these often lack clarity. Limited attempts to develop and organise content. Attempts to support/justify some content with limited success. 	3–4
1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Gives basic information, ideas, opinions and arguments but these may be irrelevant. Minimal attempts to develop and organise content. Minimal attempt to support/justify content. 	1–2
0	No creditable response.	0

Section 2: Topic conversation and Section 3: General conversation

Examiners will mark out of 12 for each part: Communication and effective engagement (4 marks), Language range (4 marks), Language accuracy (4 marks).

Conversations: Communication and effective engagement

S1: Communicate information, ideas, opinions and arguments clearly and effectively, with support/justification.

S2: Engage in a conversation and contribute effectively to help move the conversation forward.

Level	Communication and effective engagement (S1 and S2)	Marks
4	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Communicates detailed information, ideas, opinions and arguments clearly and effectively. Glossary of terms used in the Speaking levels-based mark schemes

- Relevant: related or relatable to required content points and/or task requirements.
- Range: the variety of words and grammatical forms a candidate uses. At higher levels, candidates will make increasing use of a greater variety of words, fixed phrases, collocations and grammatical forms.
- Linking and cohesive devices: refers to linking words and phrases (e.g. 'but', 'because', 'moreover', 'it may appear', 'as a result'), as well as grammatical devices such as the use of reference pronouns, substitution (e.g. There are two women in the picture. The one on the right ...), ellipsis (e.g. The first car he owned was a small car, the second a family car.).
- Formulation: the choice of words and grammatical forms a candidate uses to express meaning.
- Less common vocabulary: appears less often and is used to express ideas more succinctly and precisely.
- Errors are systematic mistakes.
- Slips are mistakes that are non-systematic, i.e. the candidate has learned the vocabulary item or grammatical structure, but just happened to make a mistake in this instance. In a candidate's response, where most other examples of a lexical/grammatical point are accurate, a mistake on that point would most likely be a slip.
- Impede communication: gets in the way of meaning.
- Simple grammar: words, phrases, basic tenses and simple clauses.
- Complex grammar: longer and more complex items, e.g. noun clauses, relative and adverb clauses, subordination, passive forms, infinitives, verb patterns, modal forms, and tense contrasts.
